

Lausanne Consultation on Jewish Evangelism
2012 North American Conference
March 5-7 (Monday to Wednesday)
San Diego, California
Jewish Evangelism in the Shadow of the Holocaust

Dear Friend of LCJE in North America,

We're headed to beautiful, tropical San Diego, CA, for our 2012 conference! We will follow the same basic schedule as previous years, with our first session at 10:30 AM on Monday, March 5, and ending with our closing banquet at 6 PM on Wednesday, March 7.

Our theme will be "Jewish Evangelism in the Shadow of the Holocaust." It's a broad topic and should serve as a starting point for provocative and fruitful discussion. An interesting variety of papers is already in the works, each one looking at this general theme from a different perspective.

The venue is The Town and Country Resort and Convention Center. It's a well-known facility that's next door to a large shopping mall and situated near the intersection of two interstate highways (I-8 and I-5) in north San Diego. It's also convenient to the airport.

Most of you already know Marty Goetz. He's arguably one of the two or three best-known messianic musicians in the world and we're very pleased that he has graciously agreed to come to San Diego and lead our worship times. Jennifer, his lovely wife, will be accompanying him on this trip—so we're looking forward to meeting her, too. Please go to www.martygoetz.com for more info about this remarkably gifted man and to see how God continues to use him all over the world.

Our guest speaker for the closing banquet will be Melody Green. Melody's late husband, Keith Green, was a Jewish believer and a well-known musician whose ministry spanned the 1970s and early 80s. Keith died (along with two of their children and several other passengers) in a tragic airplane crash in 1982, but Melody has faithfully carried the ministry forward since then. She has an amazing story and is currently working on a major project that she's anxious to tell us about in San Diego. You'll find more information about Last Days Ministries on their website at www.lastdaysministries.org.

We are also planning to have a reception on Sunday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock for those of you who will be arriving early. This is always a fun time of fellowship for those who can attend, and an opportunity to catch up on the latest happenings in each others' ministries.

To register for the conference, visit lcje-na.org. You may register and pay online with a credit card. Or, use the downloadable registration form that can be mailed with your payment by check or money order to the mailing address listed on the form. Conference registration fee covers participation in all of the sessions, coffee breaks, and the closing banquet on Wednesday evening. Hotel is not included. If you have questions regarding conference registration, call Kathi at 630-251-4965 or email her at na-secretary@lcje.net.

We are looking forward to a great time of fellowship and sharing information, and hope to see you all in San Diego.

Until then,

Gary Hedrick (GaryH@cjfm.org)
